

OBSTETRICS AND GYNAECOLOGY
[PLACE CARD- TEMPORARY]

Non-invasive prenatal test (NIPT): Screening for fetal aneuploidy

This guideline was withdrawn in March 2025. This temporary place card may remain for a period of up to 6 months, providing links to contemporary sources of this content.

Related links:

- Health professional information:
 - WA Primary Health Alliance: Clinician Assist WA (has replaced HealthPathways WA)
 - Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists (RANZCOG): Screening and Diagnosis of Fetal Structural Anomalies and Chromosome Conditions \(C-Obs 35\)
- Consumer resources:
 - Department of Health WA, HealthyWA: Prenatal Screening for Genetic Conditions (website): First Trimester Screening: NIPT
 - Consumer resources also available on Clinician Assist WA

Notes:

This place card refers to prenatal screening tests for common aneuploidies with the NIPT.

If you are looking for RHD NIPT specifically, see WNHS guideline: Antenatal Rhesus D \(RHD\) Non Invasive Prenatal Test \(NIPT\) for the Prediction of Fetal RhD Status.

